DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Mansfield.

Claims 1, 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Florian et al.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2, 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mansfield. Injection molded plastic is notoriously old and well known in the cutlery art and would be obvious to use with Mansfield. Further since Mansfield is used with game it would be obvious to design the opening to be large enough for a large gloved hand.

Claims 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mansfield in view of Florian et al. Florian shows a more rounded handle which is more comfortable than the angular design of Mansfield. Obviously one of ordinary skill in the art would have rounded the handle of Mansfield to make it more comfortable.

Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mansfield in view of Bigler et al. Bigler shows the use of a wavy handle. This accommodates fingers for better gripping. Obviously one of ordinary skill in the art would use such a design with Mansfield.
